Farmers!

We had numerous calls for Light Tractor Discs during September and October last, and were unable to supply them.

We are now in a position to accept orders for February and March delivery, and are advised that the supply will be limited. If you require a Tractor Disc for spring or summer use you will be well advised to place your orders early, as the early orders will surely get the preference.

We are able to quote you prices on Drills for spring delivery.

Why Hog Prices Must Remain High

Prior to the outbreak of the war Great Britain took practically all the surplus hams and bacon produced by Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and the United States. The total amount imported in 1913 was 664,000,000 pounds. In 1914, however, the supplies through the medium of hams and bacon, Great Britain consumed large quantities of olive oil and especially olive oil. These were supplied chiefly by Italy, Greece and Asia Minor.

At the present time the number of hogs slaughtered in Denmark is forty seven million, while the average weight of these is less than seventy-five per cent of the weight of the hams. Consequently, measured in pounds, the output of bacon in Denmark has been reduced to a point where it is no longer required for home consumption. At the present moment the Danish government is seriously considering the possibility of prohibiting the exportation of pork altogether.

In Germany there is a sparse and the supply from Ireland is reduced by much.

The supply of vegetable oils is also almost entirely cut off. Italy and Greece have little to spare, and Turkey and the Balkans are controlled by the enemy.

The Argentine, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa not producing enough. In addition to this they are too far distant to permit of their contribution to the war effort. The Allies while the war lasts, because of the scarcity of ships to transport it. Great Britain looks for a supply sufficient to cover the shortage in bacon supply in Canada in 1917 is twenty-seven per cent less than it was in 1916. Consequently, the demand must fall upon the United States alone unless the Canadian farmer mends his ways. Lord Rhonda has reduced the meat ration of men and women engaged in the war work to two and a half ounces per week, or four and a half ounces per day, and he has notified them that unless they will accept a reduction amount voluntarily the entire country will be put on rations, and the limitation will be increased to three and a half ounces per day. The allowance to those engaged in office work is even less.

The hog population of England, which is classed among the heaviest meat producers in the world, is estimated at four and a half millions per year.

A heavy population of Canada is three million, while the hog supply in France alone is three million. With a shortage in Europe of thirty-three million hams and bacon, women in Great Britain limited to four and a half ounces of meat per day including bacon, and having had to let the world to put itself in a position to supply its normal requirements?

It is evident that the packers must make good the thirty-three million shortage. Can prices drop seriously before both countries are satisfied?

Many will ask: "How do we know that we will get a fair share of the price?" We have no right to expect justice in such a question. As grossly as we have been treated in the past we ever before, we have to offer the assurance of the Food Controller that the packers will not appropriate more than one-half of the price paid to the farmers leaving the farmers to work for nothing.

It must be admitted that there is justice in such a question. That we are fully protected cannot be claimed. As grossly as we have been treated in the past we ever before, we have to offer the assurance of the Food Controller that the packers will not appropriate more than one-half of the price paid to the farmers leaving the farmers to work for nothing.

It is often contended that the packers are getting a profit while the farmers are not. This is a mistake. The packers are not guaranteed any profit at all. Their profits are limited to two per cent; the profits of the farmers are not limited at all.

THE FARMER AND THE SOLDIER.

An Alberta farmer was recently heard to say: "No more swine growing for me. I raised forty head last year and I could have sold the grain for twice the money I got for the hogs, because of the buyers' strike last week. I got caught once, and I know what it means."

But suppose the soldier reasoned the same way and said: "No more fitting place for me to go to Canada this winter and get hurt. I've been hit once and know where I've got enough."

This is the kind of reasoning that acts on that kind of reasoning would be taken out and shot, because he is expected to fight for his country. The farmer in question failed to do duty resting on the fact that he had to pay a tax on a large way is just as likely to cause us to lose this war as would that of the soldier. In the language of "The Country Gentleman"—there is a "duty" obligation resting on all of us. That of the soldier is fighting; that of the gentleman is producing and saving what is needed to keep the soldier in fighting condition.

A DAY OF PRAYER.

Sunday, Jan. 6th has been fixed by proclamation as a special day of prayer or thanksgiving to God. The proclamation cites the following words from the King:

"My Subjects—The world-wide struggle for the triumph of right and justice is entering upon its last and most difficult stage. The world is striving by desperate assault and intrigue to perpetuate the wrongs of mankind and to subvert the tide of a free civilization. We have more than three great tasks to perform: to defend our freedom, to dedicate ourselves to the cause of justice, and to call upon you to devote a special day of prayer, that we may have the clear-sightedness and the necessary energy for the victory of our cause. This victory will be gained only if we steadfastly pursue the path of truth and virtue, rest upon the word of God, and in a spirit of reverent obedience and the blessing of the Divine Providence, we may be strengthened in our efforts to enlighten our understanding, and fortified in our courage in facing the trials and difficulties which still remain before us. On Sunday, January 6, the first Sunday of the new year, let us therefore, as a special day of prayer and thanksgiving, call the churches throughout my dominions, and let it be required that this letter be read at the services held on that day."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Alberta Farm Loan Act.

War conditions and unforeseen developments incident thereto have prompted Provincial Government to request a statement of the situation with respect to the operation of the Farm Loan Act.

The Act was passed in April last and the matter of bringing it into operation was referred to the Finance Department. It will be remembered that up to that time the United States was the chief market for our hams. With the entry of the United States into the war, however, the market was closed to us, and we were forced to turn to Canada for our market. It is now known, however, as far as the United States market is concerned, that our hams are being closed to outside buyers with the result that our source of supply—one-sixth portion of our borrowings had been received cut off. There is no longer any market for our hams, and it is hardly necessary to add that the large requirements of the Dominion will be met by the packers.

The large principle of the Farm Loan Act is to encourage, assist, and re-borrowing of money with a percentage added to cover administration expenses. The packers will be sure to effect results a continuous supply of money at a reasonable rate of interest. The packers have, therefore, determined that in the interest of the farmers themselves, the packers will not charge interest on the loans until the packers' own capital has been repaid. The packers' own capital has been repaid, but conditions become more normal.

Saving Food For Our Soldiers

Quotations From Readers and Their Answers

Mrs. Win-the-War: In the first place you want to know what you can do to help our soldiers. Well, the answer is simple. The British born element has made best with the rest of us. In every Canadian household that it is apt to wonder how it can get along without the necessities of life. We have come to the point where we have to carefully husband our beef. What then?

There are poultry, fish, eggs, beans and cereals which we can afford to give up. Perhaps you are not aware that they produce yields 15 per cent more than the average farmer of the nation. Beefs, beef is not the only kind of meat on the market. There is mutton, lamb, etc. Mrs. Win-the-War is just the sort of person one would expect to see in a newspaper. She is right as possible and turning to the utmost advantage the abundant resources at her disposal.

Then, secondly, you want to know what you can give to growing school boys. Boys are the future of our country. Of course, one assumes that you give them cereals in any event. They are a great deal better for them than bread.

Then what boy doesn't like pancakes and syrup? It is an excellent thing to give the boys sour milk cottage cheese and this is economical in money. Marmalade is one of the first things for growing children when you can get it. It is good for the health and help win the war on the farm.

M.E.: What's the idea of prohibiting alcohol? Is it not a much vexed question, isn't it?

As Mr. Hanna has now explained many of the reasons for the prohibition to be unfair to the business interests. The manufacturer and retail factors are not interested to such an extent within the last decade as to render it impossible to fix them for this year. The average hundred handbills to the acre, the cost alone costs the Ontario farmer account labor on the land or anything else. As Mr. Hanna has said, "This is the case with the cost of ordinary good crop years; you cannot cut the prices in spite of the price of potatoes, aren't you?"

Mrs. R.A.M.: What's the use of saving waste while flour is scarce? I use every waste in the world, my dear maid. It's a patriotic duty and a reasonable way to make bread. You use the more waste you have. The demand for grain has increased and the cost of the product has to be made by hand and consequently the labor cost is much higher than in the case of white bread. It is not primarily with a view to saving flour that the food controller has urged the use of brown bread, but because, if used, it means an important saving in wheat.

Sister Anne: Yes, you are at present turning to the practice of purchasing cereals and cereal products in bulk. This is the best way to buy more cheaply and at the same time be assured of a fresh supply. "Inquisitor" would know why you should not be shamed in time war. The distillation of grain for alcohol is wrong. This is a little bit of advice for under an order in council of November 20, 1917, the sale of alcohol was prohibited except that the food controller may issue a permit when the distillation of alcohol for manufacturing or munitions purposes necessitates considerable quantities of barley, corn and rye.

Mr. Hanna: I would like to think that you should not be shamed in time war. A man who has been shamed in time war has lost his manhood. I have some thoughts as yourself about it. But have you looked at it from this point of view? The food controller has issued a reduction in price to the producer to be an incentive to the consumer. There you have the case in a nutshell. The value of the product is reduced. The reason that the revenue obtained from this source enables the dealers to sell more cheaply is that they are excluding the poorer classes, at a lower price than that at which there were sold. It is not that there is not some protection against loss on a heavy surplus of milk. Now which way does it go? It goes to the future consideration that ice cream is very necessary for invalids. And it is very necessary to be aggravated than during the summer months.

Margery Daw: But don't you read the newspapers, Miss Margery Daw? Or hasn't the joyful news of your victory over the food controller most absurdly has permitted the manufacturer and retailer to profit? An order in council has gone through and on and after December 1st you will have all the pleasure of gaining your heart, or rather your housewife's instincts, may desire. That is to say, you will be able to get 30 cents so that you can bank on retail bring 35 cents or thereabouts. And, by the way, what those orders in council in the papers even if they are not in force are still reading. The woman who reads the newspapers carefully will learn that directly affects her message.

Plain Martha: It takes all kinds of people in the world. We have Margery Daw wanting to know why the food controller doesn't permit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine. Now we have Plain Martha. Plain Martha knows why. Well, the answer is simple. Do Your Hens Lay?

Convenient Record Form Can Be Had Free From Experimental Farm

A convenient and simple form (to be told whether the flock is paying off) has been worked out by the Poultry Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, which may be hung up in the poultry house or the kitchen, provides space for marking down the abnormal demand for buttermilk due to weather conditions and the probability that the flock would not lay. The abnormal demand for buttermilk wholly or in part from any cause, such as a subsistence diet, is a sure sign of trouble.

The columns for recording the number of eggs and poultry sold daily, the amount of feed bought or taken from the farm, and columns for entering cash receipts, complete the record.

This form is a convenient place to keep your records and it has an appeal to the poultry division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, who will provide a duplicate copy sent to the poultry division each month.

It is a good idea to have your records, doing write for them.

Curtail Use of Tin Plate

World-wide Scarcity of Tin Plate and Tin Sheets

Manufacturers of food products are warned by the food controller for Canada that the use of tin plates must be curtailed in every possible way. The United States has prohibited exports except under license. No exportation of tin plate is allowed to any other country for the manufacture of food containers, except in the interest of the war. The food controller has issued a circular to all manufacturers of tin plate in Canada, in language that we must increase production to the utmost limit. If the production of food containers is stimulated by facts, the amount of food produced in Canada may possibly be increased, and the war will be won or losing the war."

Lighted by Great Events

German Defensive Campaign Is Once More Shaken

The great significance of the British success lies in the fact that the Germans are once more shaken and confused. It emphasizes, in the eyes not only of the German people, who are by no means blind, the fact that this whole campaign, which the Germans call the "Mirage," has been a series of heavy, stupid failures of that original and brilliant plan which was to give the Germans a strong position in the north and the war by the paralysis of British effort. It turns the Germans' war machine into a sort of splendid series of blunders, each one adding to a constantly diminishing sense of the power to victory. If now the Italians enter the war, it will be the greatest blow and check the onward sweep of Germany and her allies. Protection will be given to application to the war food controller for Canada again. Much depends on what will happen in the next few days. The war is being lit up with great events—Boston Transcript.

N. F. Edlund sustained a serious loss on Friday last, during the raging blizzard, when his fine new barn was burned down with a considerable proportion of the contents. The fire started apparently in the north-east corner of the building near where some green feed was stored, and when the fire was first noticed, it had already caused such a hold that little could be done to save anything.
Help was rendered by several of the townspersons who had to save a large portion of the machinery stored near the barn.

It is expected the loss incurred will amount to between three and four thousand dollars, but the insurance carried will be stroyed. The fire destroyed eleven hogs, one calf, 20 chick-about $500.00 damage to the Obituary.

Body of R. W. Fletcher of Burdett Interred at Magrath.

The funeral of Mr. R. W. Fletcher whose death, as briefly recorded in our last issue, took place at Victoria on Sunday, December 23rd, was held last week, the interment of the body taking place at Magrath. As already stated he had been ill-health for some time and he went to the coast for a change. His end came very suddenly as no one recognized the seriousness of his condition.

Mr. Rowan W. Fletcher, was born in Salt Lake City on August 30th, 1880, where he lived until his eighteenth year, thence leaving with his parents for Magrath, Alberta. He was educated in the Public High School at Salt Lake City, completing his education at Los Angeles, California. He then went to work for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Magrath in 1898, which venture was finally merged into the Magrath Trading Co. He was connected with this concern until 1906, when he took over the position of timekeeper for the Alberta Construction Co. at Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, where he remained for two years. He then formed a partnership with Mr. J. H. Bigelow and purchased the Houghlin business at Burdett, which business this firm conducted until 1915, when Mr. Fletcher bought Mr. Bigelow's share in the business and formed the firm of Fletcher & Sons. From that time the business has grown and prospered so much as to establish Mr. Fletcher's reputation as one of the best business men in Southern Alberta.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss his wife and two children, his father, W. T. Fletcher, four brothers, S. W. A. W. Fletcher of Burdett, Ira C. Fletcher of Magrath, and Dr. C. M. Fletcher of Casterton. He also had one sister, Mrs. J. Llewellyn, who resides at Burdett.

During the time Mr. Fletcher has resided at Burdett he was always recognized as one of its most surprising business men and many people looked to him for counsel and advice.

His place in the community will be hard to fill.
